With stops in Australia and beyond, Bill Haase is leading a global conversation on financial literacy, challenging audiences to rethink their mindset on money

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, February 25, 2026 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- Author and financial thought leader Bill Haase is launching his new podcast, Garage Talks with Bill Haase, on Thursday, February 26, 2026, as he prepares to depart on March 19 for the opening leg of his international speaking tour, beginning in Australia. On March 23, he will speak at the prestigious Royal Automobile Club of Australia, delivering an talk centered on his new book, Our Mindset on Money: It’s Easy to Control, So Why Don’t We?

At the core of Haase’s message is a disruptive yet practical premise: lasting financial transformation does not begin with earning more money; it begins with changing how money is viewed and managed.

“Most people believe they need more income,” says Haase. “In reality, what they need is a shift in mindset. Money is controllable”.

In Our Mindset on Money, Haase explores how deeply ingrained beliefs, emotional habits, and unconscious financial behaviors shape long-term results.

“More money isn’t the answer. A new mindset is.”

Readers Rave About the Book

"If you want an easy to understand, non-intimidating, and pleasurable read / listen about your money, then invest in this work. As a former financial advisor myself, the author lays out the truth and, more importantly, how to take steps towards a healthy financial situation. This is an easy book to gift to someone who would benefit from a better financial plan for not only for their money but their life as well," Tom Heitz (Amazon Reviewer)

The international tour marks a significant expansion of Haase's platform, bringing his message of financial ownership and disciplined thinking to global audiences.

His podcast, Garage Talks with Bill Haase, extends those conversations beyond the stage.

"This podcast is about stripping away the noise and talking about what actually drives results, in money and life."

The podcast features candid, echoing the honest conversations that happen in real-world spaces where authenticity outweighs performance.

Together, the book, podcast, and international tour position Haase at the forefront of a growing movement that asserts sustainable wealth begins internally.

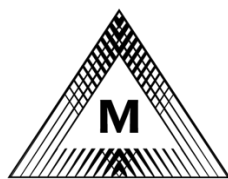

Garage Talks with Bill Haase will launch on Thursday, February 26, 2026, streaming on major platforms. Watch here: <https://www.youtube.com/@moneymindsetmediallc>
